Through The Wine

Italian | by Marcello Di Trocchio

We all drink wine but what do we know about it? Marcello and Francesca, a filmmaker and an oenologist, set off on a road trip around Rome to explore both the biggest industrial wineries and some of the most interesting natural wine producers. Just different ways of making wine or actually different approaches to life?

Embark on a journey through and beyond these differences and get a deeper look at the relationship we have with nature, time and technology.
